18. RISK FACTORS

Investing in the company involves a high degree of risk. You should carefully consider the following risk factors and all other information contained in this Prospectus before making a decision to invest. The risks and uncertainties described below are not the only ones facing us and are not set out in any order of priority. Additional risks and uncertainties that we are unaware of, or that we currently deem immaterial, may also become important factors that affect us. If any of the following risks occur, our financial conditions or results of operations may be materially and adversely affected. In that event, the trading price of our securities could decline and you could lose all or part of your investment.

An investment in the Participating Shares involves a high degree of risk. It should be appreciated that the value of securities and the income from them may go down as well as up and that shareholders may not receive on redemption of their securities the amount that they invested.

Since investment in securities in the Company in effect represents an investment in securities and other assets with fluctuating market prices, the value of securities will vary as the aggregate value of the Company's securities and other assets increases and decreases.

There can be no insurance that the Company's objectives will be realised or that there will be any return of capital. The following considerations should be carefully evaluated before making an investment in the Company. Investment in the Company should be made only by sophisticated investors who are able to bear the risk of complete loss of an investment in the Company. Potential investors should be aware of the risks associated with the Company's investment policy and are advised to consult with their professional Advisors, such as lawyers, financial advisor, accountants, or tax advisors when determining whether an investment in the Company is suitable for them.

18.1. Reliance on the Board of the Company and the CIS Manager

The decisions of the Company will be taken by the Board of the Company after considering the advice of the CIS Manager, in certain circumstances. Investors will have no opportunity to control the day-to-day operations, including investment and disposition decisions, of the Company. Investors must rely entirely on the Board of the Company to conduct and manage the affairs of the Company. Further, the Board's ability to manage the Company successfully will depend largely on the expertise and experience of, and relationships held by, the CIS Manager.

18.2. Lack of diversification

The Company may participate in a limited number of investments and, as a consequence, the aggregate return of the Company may be materially adversely affected by the unfavourable performance of a single investment or small group of investments. While diversification is an objective of the Company, there can be no assurance as to the degree of diversification that will actually be achieved in the Company's investments.

18.3. Investment Risks

The Company shall use its best endeavours to invest proceeds of the subscription of the Participating Shares in the type of investment and in the proportion indicated by the shareholders.

No assurance can be given about the likely income generation of the asset holding portfolio of the Company or about likelihood of appreciation in portfolio value. Investment may include derivatives such as warrants, options and futures for the purpose of efficient portfolio management.

The risk of investing in warrants and option depends on the terms attached to them and on the volatility of the stock market on which they are traded. As the viability of exercising warrants and/or options depends on the markets prices of the securities to which they relate, it may be in the case that the CIS Manager may from time to time consider it unviable to exercise certain warrants and/or options held by the Company within the prescribed period, in which case any costs incurred in obtaining the warrants or options will not be recoverable.

18.4. Economic Conditions

Changes in economic conditions, including, for example, interest rates, inflation rates, industry conditions, government regulation, competition, technological developments, political and diplomatic events and trends, tax laws and innumerable other factors, can affect substantially and adversely the business and prospects of the Company. None of these conditions are within the control of the CIS Manager, and no assurances can be given that the CIS Manager will anticipate these developments.

18.5. No Voting Rights

Each and every Participating Shareholder will have no voting rights.

18.6. Governmental Regulation

The failure to comply with current or future legislation and regulations or changes in the interpretation of existing legislation and regulations could adversely affect the Company's business or result in the suspension or cessation thereof. Such legislation and regulations or such changes in the interpretation thereof could require the Company to incur substantial costs to comply with such legislation and regulations or changes. Legislative and regulatory changes, which are effected as a result of political and economic factors, could significantly impact the Company's operations by increasing the opportunity for additional competition.

18.7. Unregistered Securities

Participating Shares have not been registered under the securities legislation of any jurisdiction nor listed on any exchange. Securities and investment businesses generally are comprehensively and intensively regulated under federal state and provincial laws and regulations. Any investigation, litigation, or other proceeding undertaken by regulatory agencies or private parties could necessitate the expenditure of material amounts of the Company's assets for legal and other costs and could have other materially adverse consequences for the Company.

18.8. Tax and Regulatory Change

The tax consequences to the Company and every Participating Shareholder, the ability of the Company to repatriate its assets including any income and profit earned on those assets and other operations of the Company are based on existing regulations, which are subject to change through legislative, judicial or administrative action in the various jurisdictions in which the Company operates, and each Shareholder should seek advice from his tax advisor before making an investment in the Company as to the potential tax consequences of potential changes in applicable law.

The foregoing factors are not exhaustive and do not purport to be a complete explanation of all the risks and significant considerations involved in investing in the Company.

18.9. Liquidity Risks

Investors should be aware the liquidity risk. Accordingly, the substantial majority of the investments made by the Company through the various cells will be in Listed Stocks, Bonds, ETFs and will therefore be liquid.

19. GENERAL

19.1. Litigation

The Company is not and has not been during the previous 12 months, involved in any legal or arbitration proceedings, active, pending or threatened against, or being brought by, the Company which are having or may have a significant effect on the Company's financial position or profitability.

19.2. Anti-Money Laundering Procedures

The Administrator, through the designated Compliance Officer assigned to the Company, will be responsible to perform Customer Due Diligence ("CDD") checks on investors and complete Know Your Client ("KYC") procedures. Furthermore, the Administrator, through the designated Money Laundering Reporting Officer assigned to the Company, will be responsible to perform all tasks relating to Anti-Money Laundering Procedures.

If the Company or any service provider to the Company, which is subject to the jurisdiction of the FSC has a suspicion or belief that a payment to the Company (by way or subscription or otherwise) is derived from or represents the proceeds of criminal conduct, that person is compelled under applicable legislation to report such suspicion to the Mauritius Financial Intelligence Unit and the FSC, and such report shall not be treated as a breach of any restriction upon the disclosure of information imposed by any enactment or otherwise.

Measures aimed at the prevention of money laundering require a subscriber to verify his/her/its identity and source of funds to the Administrator. This obligation is absolute unless (i) the application is being made via a recognised financial intermediary or (ii) payment is made through a banking institution, which in either case is situated Mauritius or in a country with equivalent money laundering regulations to those affecting the Administrator and the intermediary or institution confirms in terms satisfactory to the Administrator that the Company may rely on the "know your client" or anti-money laundering checks undertaken by the intermediary or institution.

The Administrator will notify applicants if proof of identity is required. By way of example, an individual may be required to produce a copy of a passport or identification card duly certified by an appropriately qualified person such as a notary public or lawyer, the police or the ambassador in his country of residence, together with evidence of his address such as a utility bill or bank statement. In the case of corporate applicants this may require production of a certified copy of the certificate of incorporation (and any change of name), memorandum and articles of association (or equivalent), and the names and addresses of all directors and beneficial owners.

The Administrator reserves the right to request such documentation as is necessary to verify the identity of the applicant. In the event that Shares are issued without production of all supporting documentation requested by the Administrator, and the relevant Shareholder fails to produce the missing documentation, the Administrator may refer the matter to the Board and will not pay out redemption proceeds until the requested information has been produced.

In accordance with the Mauritius Anti Money Laundering Code, the Company will appoint a money laundering reporting officer ("MLRO"). The duties of that MLRO will include receiving and evaluating internal suspicious transactions reports and, where appropriate, filing these with the Mauritius Financial Intelligence Unit ("FIU"). Persons connected with the Company are required to report any suspicions of money laundering to the MLRO. If requested by relevant authority including, without limitation, the FIU, the MLRO may pass on information about any applicant to any such regulatory authority. It is a term of subscription that any applicant will be deemed to have consented to the passing on of such information to any such authority.
